HON. D. F. CALDWELL'S WILL.

Probated Wednesday Afternoon By Superior Court Clerk.

The last will and testament of the late Hon. D. F. Caldwell, of this city, was admitted to probate Wednesday afternoon. After the usual preamble, etc. the documents reads as follows, and was written by the testator's own hand:

"First, I will and direct that my executors hereinafter named, after my death, provide for my body a decent burial in Buffalo cemetery, by the side of my beloved parents and sister, or at their feet, and I further authorize and require them to pay to my nieces Bettie D. and Mattie H. Caldwell, five hundred dollars, at their request, to be expended by them in erecting four neat marble head and foot stones to the graves of my father, mother, sister and testator.

"Second, I further will and direct my executors, as soon after they qualify, to take into their possession and custody all my property of whatsoever nature or quality it may be, whether real, personal or mixed; and for expeditious and speedy settlement of my estate, I hereby invest them with power to make and use all the property of mine that may rightly come into their hands as executors, as assets to be used in the payment of all funeral expenses and charges, and any and all other debts that may be owing to the estate, including any and all special bequests in this will by the testator; and more especially the five equally distributed shares hereinafter to be specially bequeathed by name to two of my nephews and three of my nieces.

"Third, I wish it to be distinctly understood and remembered by executors that all real estate, certificates or bonds, notes, or other property used by them in payment of the debts, special bequests or any one or all of the five equally distributed shares hereafter bequeathed to my two nephews and three nieces, by name, respectively, and used, taken and accounted for in settlement made by them at par, or at the intrinsic value of the property parted with at the time of the sale or payment made.

"Fourth, I give and devise this lot of land situated in the city of Greensboro, in the angle of West Market and Ashe streets, with all the houses, buildings thereon, and known as the home of Thomas Caldwell, deceased; my bed, writing desk, piano, iron fire-proof safe, tables, chairs, wash stand, to my nieces, Bettie D. and Mattie H. Caldwell, to hold and use as tenants in common in fee simple. I also bequeath to them as their absolute property all the books and papers that they wish to retain for their own use in my library. Such as they may elect not to retain, I request them to hand over to the Friends of Guilford College, to dispose of at their discretion and pleasure. The legislative journals and other documents that have survived the fires that burned down my office between 1848 and 1897, throw a great deal of light on an interesting and trying period of our history, and should be carefully preserved by the college.

"Fifth, after all personal charges, funeral debts and personal debts have been paid off or fully provided for as above directed, I give and bequeath to my nephew, William A. Caldwell, of Jackson, Tenn., five thousand dollars as a trust, and in trust to put and keep the same lent out at interest, and the income arising therefrom to his brother, Robert Samuel Caldwell, during term of life, and at his death in trust return one-half of the proceeds of the said bequest to his own use, and he as trustee to pay over the other half of the aforesaid bequest to his sister, Lizzie Caldwell Johnston, of Memphis, Tenn., for her sole use, and thereafter of her children.

"Sixth, I also will and bequeath to my niece, Emma W. Caldwell Elder, of Trenton, Tenn., five thousand dollars for her sole benefit, use and behoof and her child or children, to be paid to her two years after the qualification of executors.

"Seventh, I also will and desire that my executors hand over to my cousin, Sarah Jane Donnell, a note that I hold on her husband, George Donnell, for two hundred dollars, with interest.

"Eighth, I likewise will and direct that when all of the bequests made in this will are paid and that before the final settlement of the estate is made, that they pay or cause to be paid to William B. Bogart, Esq., the sum of five hundred dollars, as a slight token of my love and esteem and faithful service rendered to me as president of the Bank of Guilford and the other stockholders of that institution.

"Ninth, after several efforts I find that such is the fluctuating nature, quality, scattering location and varied condition to devise it satisfactorily to my heirs as it now rests, therefore as the next thing I can do to secure to them what I believe to be their part of my effects, is to will and direct my executors, after they have paid off or set apart and specially provided a sufficient amount of actual cash, accruing from interest, dividends or otherwise good and salient assets, to pay in full all the specified debts, legacies, and have carefully and accurately ascertained the amount of the remainder of my estate, that they proceed to divide

M'KINLEY AND THE THIRD.

The President Has Decided To Muster It Out.

WHITE AND CHEATHAM PLEAD.

Congressman White Tells The President Many Of The Charges Against It Are Untrue.

Special to The Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The decision of President McKinley to muster out of the service the Third North Carolina regiment, colored, is a wise one. The regiment since it has been in the service, with perhaps the single exception of the Sixth Virginia regiment, another colored volunteer organization, more in public print, on account of affairs than any other regiment in the service of the United States. The President's desire to get rid of both of these colored organizations is not surprising.

Notwithstanding the orders of the war department, however, an earnest attempt is being made still to retain the Third North Carolina in the service whose members do not desire to leave a good thing. Representative White, of the First district, the colored representative from the state, accompanied by Mr. Cheatham, of North Carolina, the colored recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, called at the Executive Mansion yesterday morning, and made an appeal to the President to continue the regiment in the service. Mr. White was at a disadvantage owing to the number of affairs in which the regiment have been concerned, but he made the best of a bad case, and made a good plea for the retention of the regiment, denying to the President many of the charges which have appeared against the regiment since it entered the service. The President promised the two colored leaders that he would consider the proposition to retain them, but the chances are that the regiment will have to go. If the orders are not reversed, Representative White will introduce a bill in the house to give the regiment sixty days of grace before ordering them to be mustered out of the service.

The North Carolina gentleman also made an effort to get the war department to rescind the orders issued, but were unsuccessful. The regiment is now stationed at Macon, Georgia, where it will probably be mustered out unless the President countermands the orders of the war department. Representative White, Recorder Cheatham, of North Carolina, and Auditor Youngblood, of Georgia, also saw the president yesterday morning for the purpose of requesting him to give a desirable appointment to W. A. Pledger, a colored republican of Georgia. When the republican bosses of Georgia made up their state of appointments, Pledger was left out for the reason that he supported Speaker Thomas B. Reed for the republican nomination for the presidency. Pledger is said to be a worthy colored man. He is a personal friend of Congressman White, and the appointment is asked on the ground of merit.

A number of delegations from the south appeared before the house committee on Rivers and Harbors for the purpose of asking for certain improvements in which their respective localities are interested. Among the delegations were prominent citizens from Texas, Florida and Tennessee.

But little has been done since the adjournment of congress before the Christmas holidays, relative to the improvements in which North Carolina is interested, but the delegation from the state promise that the interests of North Carolina during the present session will be carefully looked after before the Rivers and Harbors committee, and in the coming bill it is hoped many items of interest to the state may be included.

Senator Pritchard yesterday introduced his bill to grant a pension to Mrs. Shipp. He stated yesterday that he thought the committee would report it back at the next meeting.

Senator Pritchard says that his health has much improved since his return to Washington. During the holidays he was suffering from a bad cold, and it is thought a slight attack of the gripe, which has been so prevalent in Washington this winter.

Mr. Hyams, private Secretary to Senator Pritchard, who has also been suffering from the gripe, is slowly improving, and will be able to resume his duties in a short time. The weather for the past two days has been very wet, which has prevented him from venturing out of doors.

The site of postoffice at McCurdy, Iredell county, N. C., has been moved three quarters of a mile east.

Among North Carolina people in Washington are J. W. Prather, of Mt. Airy, registered at the Howard House; J. D. Morris, registered at the National Hotel; R. L. Esler, of Raleigh, registered at the St. James, and Miss Robbins, of Statesville, who is stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU. HIGH POINT, N. C. Jan. 6

Charley Bundy received an ugly cut on the foot while chopping wood near here day before yesterday. Dr. Stanton dressed the cut.

Miss Margaret Callum, of Greensboro, who has been spending a few days with friends here, returned home yesterday.

Weng Hih, the new Chinaman who is going to start a laundry in Ying Lee's old stand, is having part of a new front put in the building and making many changes inside.

Dr. D. A. Stanton, acting for Frank Brown, who is home on a furlough from the First regiment received a wire from Washington yesterday stating that Frank may remain at home until mustered out.

Chas. S. Cude, of Greensboro, spent last night in the city on very pleasant business and returned home this morning.

A gentleman who has subscribed for the Telegram no less than four times, and of course had it discontinued equally as many times, on the grounds that he was taking so many other papers that he could not afford to take the Telegram, has subscribed again and paid in advance and says that he cannot do without it and does not intend to try any longer.

The railroad people must be afraid that the amendment of the ordinance limiting the speed of trains through here to ten miles an hour will be enforced by the way the trains are running through here now—they slip! fly.

The incandescent lights in the stores and residences went out last night at ten o'clock.

LIGHT ON EMBALMED BEEF.

Experiment With Chemicals Alleged to Have Started the Trouble.

Washington Jan. 5.—Three boards of inquiry, composed of the war investigating commission, the board of survey and the inspector general's department, continued today the investigation into the beef supply of the army.

It was at the war investigating commission that the most interesting information was secured. It was given by Colonel Osgood, depot commissary at Santiago, who revealed the foundation for the report that beef supplied to soldiers was treated with chemicals. A man named Powell had induced Armour & Co. to prepare for him from a secret formula four quarters of beef that were shipped from Tampa. It was placed on exhibition on the deck of the transport Comal. Osgood swore emphatically today that no part of this beef had ever been issued to soldiers, that it was on the vessel merely as an experiment and never became the property of the government. In his opinion it was treated chemically by some kind of a secret preparation injected into the beef, and he was certain that Surgeon Daly's report on embalmed beef arose entirely from seeing this meat on exhibition.

Cleveland and Confederates.

Mr. McKinley's recent words spoken in the south and of the south were gracious words and graciously received, but Cleveland is the only president since the war who has really taken southern men, ex-confederates at that, by the hand, and lifted them over the heads of northern men into the best positions under the government. But the old man could not change fast enough so suit the popular whim; he could not go back from the platforms on which he was nominated and from his letters of acceptance, and because he could not he has been the victim of the coarsest traducement, not alone from the south in general, but from some of the very men who ate his bread, and from scores and hundreds of those whose friends he placed in positions of honor and emolument. "We stand by Cleveland," says the Charleston News and Courier. "So do we, for what he has been to the south and may be to the north, if we ever join in the clamor against him simply because it is popular."—Charlotte Observer.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Erving Winslow, of Massachusetts, the secretary of the National Imperialist League, yesterday saw the senators who are opposed to this country's acquiring the Philippine Islands. He informed them of the work done by the League and the reports which have been made to it. He also urged them to oppose the ratification of the peace treaty at this session of congress.

IN CONGRESS TODAY.

Two Months Extra Pay for Volunteers Ordered Abroad.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 6.—By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Marsh, of Illinois, the house passed the bill providing for the payment of two months extra compensation for the volunteers ordered abroad before being mustered out. The house then went into a committee of the whole to consider the legislative appropriation bill.

After routine business in the senate Mr. Caffrey took the floor on the anti-expansion resolutions and made a long speech. Nominations were sent to the senate as follows: Jas. D. Yeomans, of Iowa, Interstate commerce commissioner; Robert A. Mosely, of Alabama consul to Singapore; Silas C. McFarland, of Iowa, consul to Nottingham, England.

The senate adopted the Hoar resolution calling the President's treaty communications to Washington from Paris.

TO SUPERVISE EDUCATION.

Washington, Jan. 6.—General John Eaton sails for Porto Rico today, to undertake the supervision of education in that island. By Cable to The Telegram.

Buried Alive.

Lee's great company of hypnotists, who created such a sensation by burying a man alive under five feet of earth, without food or water, in the city park at Chillicothe, Ohio, for thirty-six hours last May; and who hypnotized Samuel Story of the same place, by telephone from the office of the Columbia Daily Dispatch, a distance of over fifty miles and had a committee of the Ohio State Medical Association run ordinary hat pins through his face and arms without pain or causing a drop of blood to flow, will on Monday night, begin an engagement for the entire week at the opera house.

The Lee's company is the largest organization of the kind before the public, and is made up of the foremost practitioners of that wonderful science, hypnotism. Everywhere they have appeared, the people pack the theatres to their utmost, to see their wonderful, instructive, interesting and laughable entertainments.

Monday night they will put a man to sleep for two days and nights during which time he will have neither food nor water and will be placed in some prominent show window on main street. Prices 50, 35 and 25 cents.

VICE-ROYALTY OF INDIA.

Lord Curzon Firmly Assumes That Position Today.

By Cable to The Telegram.

Calcutta, Jan. 6.—Lord Curzon formally assumed the Vice-Royalty of India today. There was a large gathering at the government house to witness the ceremony. Lady Curzon was present and was a most conspicuous figure.

The ceremony, though entirely formal, was most striking, the brilliant uniforms of the officials and foreign consuls lending much color to the scene. The royal salute was fired and the national anthem was played.

Directly after the warrant had been read the Earl of Elgin with Lady Elgin and their immediate family party left the government house.

FRIDAY, JAN. 6, 1899.

The legislature is losing no time. It is starting off in a business-like way. Up to last night no speeches longer than three minutes had been made, and a number of bills have already been referred to committees or placed on the calendar. The history-making body has already begun its work.

The most successful business men in every branch, are the ones who advertise the most extensively and judiciously. Here is a pointer for every man in Greensboro who is not a regular advertiser in the city papers. The columns of the Telegram are always open for legitimate and respectable business. Rates reasonable. Have you turned over the new leaf which is likely to bring the largest returns in a business way? Think about it.

The governor's message covers a whole page of fine line type print and does not say a single time that there is "Retribution in History" when such a declaration would have been so appropriate at this time. In fact the message is more remarkable for what it does not contain than for what it does contain. His Excellency relieves himself in "deferential tones." There is little of his usual high-sounding bombast in the message. He makes comparatively few suggestions or recommendations and what he says seems to carry with it a doubt that it will have any weight with the lawmakers. If he had only said: "There is retribution in history," all would be forgiven.

Claudius Dockery, Esq., of Rockingham, serves notice that he will contest the seat of Hon. John D. Bellamy in Congress from the Sixth N. C. District.—Union Republican.

Great Scott! Which one of the Dockery family was it who ran against Bellamy, anyhow? We supposed all along through the campaign that it was the old warhorse of the Pee Dee, Oliver H. At any rate he is the man who was defeated by Mr. Bellamy, to the tune of about six thousand majority. But if Mr. Bellamy is to be robbed of his seat it would be about as near right to give it to Claud as to give it to the old man, so we'll let it go.

It is believed that the cost attendant upon the Public Printing could be very greatly lessened, if the state would purchase a printing plant for the institutions for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, and have the work done by the inmates of these institutions. In this way money could not only be saved to the state, but the means of teaching those unfortunate valuable trade could also be furnished.—Extract from Governor Russell's Message.

It is the imperative duty of the state to take care of the deaf and dumb and to educate them. Some of these unfortunate can learn the printing trade, others cannot; and if the experiment should be undertaken it would be many years before inmates of the Deaf and Dumb institutions could become proficient and expert to a degree that would enable them to do the state printing. It is a job that requires first-class, finished workmen, and not apprentices. In fact there is hardly any room on the state work for an apprentice. He must learn the trade elsewhere before he can "save money" for the state.

HON. D. F. CALDWELL'S WILL.

the aforesaid resume of my estate into five equal parts or shares. And I will and bequeath the first of these five equal shares or parts of this remainder of my estate to my niece, Bettie D., and the second share or equal part of the residue of my estate to my niece Mattie E. Caldwell, both residents of Greensboro, N. C. The third of these equal shares or parts of my property I give and bequeath to my niece, Mary E. Caldwell, of Jackson, Tenn. The fourth of these equal parts or shares of the residue of my estate I will and bequeath to my niece, Lizzie A. Caldwell Johnston, of Memphis, Tenn., to have and hold for her own sole use and benefit and that of her children after her. The fifth or the last of these equal distributed shares or parts of the residue of my estate I will and bequeath to my nephew, William A. Caldwell, of Jackson, Tenn.

"Tenth, I wish to remind all that shall hereinafter be beneficiaries under this will that they are expected, and conscientiously, to contribute liberally of the benefits annually accruing from legacies received under the provisions of this will to some one or more moral, benevolent or religious purpose or object in remembrance of the donor. I lay this injunction on the conscience of each and all of my relatives and I make this request for the simple reason that I have been forced to the belief that more good will be done and received to this effect than if it was left to boards, trustees and sessions.

"Eleventh, and lastly, I hereby revoke all wills by me made and declare this to be my last will and testament and I hereby nominate and appoint my nephew, William A. Caldwell, of Jackson, Tenn.; my niece, Bettie D. Caldwell, of Greensboro, and my long-remembered, true and faithful friend and co-laborer in the Bank of Guilford, Wm. B. Bogart, Esq., to be my executors and executrix of this my last will and testament at farthest in three years if possible.

In testimony of which I hereto set my hand, seal this 10th of June, 1895. D. F. Caldwell

Laughable Forgetfulness.

As Sheridan Knowles, the dramatist, was walking down the Strand one day with a friend he stopped to greet a gentleman, who, however, received him very coldly. "Do you know," said he to Knowles, "that you owe me an apology?" "An apology! What for?" asked the dramatist.

"For not keeping that dinner engagement you had with me last Thursday. I had a number of people to meet you, and you never came or even sent an explanation of your absence." "Oh, I'm so sorry!" exclaimed Knowles. "I've such a memory that I forgot all about the affair; forgive me and invite me to another dinner." It was then arranged that he should dine with the gentleman on the following Wednesday, and in order to secure against the engagement being again forgotten he there and then recorded it in his diary. On rejoining his friend he told him the story of his lapse of memory.

Puzzled by So Many Ways.

A certain man made a display of dense ignorance the other day when he went into a restaurant and asked the waiter if he had any eggs. "Yes," said the waiter, "we have." "Well, bring me some." "How do you want them cooked?" "Oh, any old way." "My dear man," said the waiter, "that order will hardly do. We have over 500 different ways of cooking eggs, and you will be pleased to make a suggestion or mention a choice." This astonishing fact had the effect of paralyzing the customer's tongue for awhile, and he finally recovered enough to whisper in awe, "Scramble 'em." "Yes, sir," replied the astute waiter, still lingering. "Which way?" "Oh, any old way!" "Sir," said the waiter in a determined voice, "I must insist you will make a choice. There are 70 different ways of scrambling eggs in this establishment."

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want the best medicine that can be obtained, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure. You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectation easy. You want a remedy that will counteract any tendency toward pneumonia. You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only medicine in use that meets all of these requirements. This remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It has rivals, but for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer and its splendid qualities are everywhere admired and praised. For sale by C. E. Holton.

SHADOWS ON THE WALL.

When the room is tidy Toys are growing sleepy. Skies are turning gray. Comes the children's silence As they round me throng. Fairy lore's exhausted, Sung each nursery song. In the mellow lamplight Hushed their voices all. Whilst they watch me making Shadows on the wall!

Through the happy silence Rings their laughter low As upon the wall there Shadows come and go. Nurse, unseen, unheeded, Watches from the door. Whilst the children's voices Plead for just one more!

HOW HE GAINED COURAGE.

General Chaffee's Way of Giving a Recruit Confidence.

A youth of 18 who was in the trenches at El Caney carrying a gun was so badly frightened under fire that he went flat on his face and was roundly kicked by his companions. General Chaffee came along and called to him. "Well, you're a fine soldier! Then he looked at the boyish face of the kid, and his face softened. "I suppose you can't help it," he said. "It ain't so much your fault. I'd like to get hold of the fellow that took you into the army." By and by he put his hand on the boy's shoulder. "There isn't so much danger as you think for," said the general. "Now, you get up and take your gun and fight, and I'll stand here by you."

The boy got up, shaking like a leaf and fired his first shot pretty near straight into the air.

"That's pretty high," said the general. "Keep cool and try it again."

In three minutes that kid was fighting like a veteran and cool as a cucumber, and when he saw it the general stationed on.

"You're all right now, my boy," he said. "You'll make a good soldier." "God bless you, sir," said the youngster. "You saved me from worse than death." And he was pretty close to crying when he said it.

Theatrical "Props."

Props comprise all the portable articles required in a play. Guns and pistols—which too often fail to go off at the critical moment—are props; leaves of bread, fowls, fruit, all made of a rough paper mache, are also props. We may also include those wondrous gilt goblets, only seen on the stage, which make such a nonmetallic thud when they fall and bounce upon the boards, as among the achievements of the property man.

But it is at pantomime time that that individual is at his busiest. Big masks and make believe sausages and vegetables, without which no pantomime would be complete, are mingled with fairy wands, garlands of artificial flowers, basket work frames for the accommodation of gis and other articles too numerous to mention.

How the right things are forthcoming at the right moment is one of those mysteries only known to property men. Had one of these useful members of the theatrical world the ability and inclination to write a book what an entertaining volume could he turn out!—Chambers' Journal.

Original if Not Accurate.

This, says The Scottish Leader, is a genuine extract from a schoolboy's recent "Essay on Nelson": "Oh! Harding, kiss me hero!" were the butefull words of a heroic mortal who won a grate battle with one eye and a wooden leg. Before the bloody context this motto was uttered by him. "The queen expects every man to do his duty." When he died the queen met him in a boat and he went to St. Paul's and was buried. This is a marvelous lesson to all schoolboys. Do your duty to your restors and masters and then even with a single leg you can say, "with this thing I will do my duty." As Nelson himself said, "Even though you are only man you can do your duty."

Human Nature.

"You know," said the collector rather plaintively, "you said that you would pay me if I'll schoolboys. Do your duty to your restors and masters and then even with a single leg you can say, "with this thing I will do my duty." As Nelson himself said, "Even though you are only man you can do your duty."

A Swell.

"So in your last place you were valet to a count? When did you have to call him in the morning?" "At half past 7."

ROMAN WEALTH AND WASTE.

Pearls Dissolved in Wine and a Re- lay of Diseases For Mark Antony. E. H. House, writing on "Bright Sides of History" in St. Nicholas, tells this story of ancient extravagance: "The pearl which Cleopatra drank so Antony's health was valued at nearly $400,000, so at one mouthful she disposed of as much as the cost of California's supper. I suppose that was the most valuable pearl we have any knowledge of. Though Julius Caesar owned one worth $250,000, which he gave to the mother of Brutus—the same Brutus who afterward helped to kill Caesar. Pearls seem to have held out particular temptations to people who took pleasure in wasteful follies, perhaps because no other jewel could be so easily swallowed.

"Cleopatra's prank was not the first of its kind. The same absurdity had been committed by a silly fellow in Rome named Aesop—not your favorite fable teller, for he lived centuries earlier, and was a very wise man. The Roman Aesop was the son of a rich and just to make himself talked about, he took a pearl from the eardrop of Cæcilia, the wife of the tyrant Sylla, and, according to writers of that age, drank it in vinegar. I believe that the possibility of dissolving this kind of gem is disputed by many modern authorities, but the ancients appear to have had no doubt on the subject, for the instances recorded by them were numerous and were attested by men of scientific standing. A Japanese naturalist, who has studied pearls minutely, states that he has found them of such various quality and structure that the existence of specimens which might be melted does not seem to him inconceivable. But whether Aesop liquefied his pearl or not the performance certainly cost him a sum equivalent to $40,000—quite enough, though nothing in comparison with what Cleopatra squandered. Hers was the wildest piece of extravagance that I can recall.

"It was a piece of extravagance then. Mary Antony was not far behind the Egyptian queen in that respect, though his fancy was not for beverages flavored by trinkets. Substantial food was more in his line. A visitor who once went into the kitchen of his palace in Alexandria saw eight wild boars roasting at the same time and thought there must be an immense number of guests expected, but the cook told him only 12 persons would dine that day, and the reason of the extensive preparation was that no one could say exactly when Antony would go to the table. But whenever he gave the signal the meat must be just in proper condition at that moment. So it was the rule to get ready a series of dinners, overlapping one another, you might say, at intervals of 15 or 20 minutes. Only one could be eaten, and the rest were wasted, but the waste did not matter. Antony was never kept waiting, and that, in his opinion, was the thing to be considered."

MY LADY NICOTINE.

The Alleged Effects of Tobacco and its Enormous Consumption.

Probably no pleasure of life has had its praises so much sung as smoking.

Here is the other side. Doctors say tobacco used in excess produces: Palpitation of the heart, muscular trembling, weakness and paralysis of the legs, dizziness of the head, noises in the ears, cold perspiration all over the body, colicky pains in the stomach, inability to exert the mind, congested and sore throat, burning of the tongue, dry and parched mouth, tartar and decay of the teeth, confusion of sight, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the throat and nose, sallow complexion, very bad dyspepsia, lopsided mouth, nervous anxiety, cancer of the lips, diminished appetite, pale and anaemic countenance, loss of memory, emission of every fifth pulse beat, ruin of the will power, irritability of temper, extreme and incurable melancholy, restlessness and sleeplessness, blindness and deafness, apoplexy and paralysis, convulsions and death.

In the case of children it stunts their growth, when a person is consumptive it hastens his death, when the heart is weak it almost completely stops the beating, when you have a cough tobacco keeps it going for weeks, and it interferes with singing and swallowing. Yet about 1,600,000,000 pounds of it are smoked every year.—New York World.

Worthy of Whittier.

As an artist Jack Gamble is considered as independent as he is successful. He possesses an unlimited quantity of candor, upon the expression of which he places his restraint. He is much liked notwithstanding, and was not long ago offered a commission to paint the portrait of a certain wealthy man, whose features are more remarkable for their bloom than for their refinement. He critically scanned the broad features of his proposed subject. "Upon one condition will I paint you," he declared dramatically. "What?" gasped the amazed Croesus, speechless at the effrontery of this poverty stricken artist. "Yes," pursued Gamble, with easy grace. "Upon condition that I shall be allowed to put in a little intelligence." And the funny part of it was that Jack got the commission.—San Francisco News Letter.

Santaneli, Hypnotist.
The exhibitions of hypnotism to be given by Santaneli at the Academy of Music next week promise to be extremely interesting. When laughing gas was first discovered the discoverer could not persuade the public to accept the use of this wonderful anaesthetic until a shrewd genius conceived the happy thought of renting an opera house and inviting volunteers from the audience to come on the stage and partake of this then mysterious gas. After a few nights volunteers became numerous, the public became familiar with its effect and in a few years they lost all fear of the gas that caused people to go through humorous antics, yet leaving no ill effects. Today no one hesitates when in the dental office to take laughing gas. It is the same with hypnotism; the public entertainers are doing good missionary work in showing the general public that all can be hypnotized; that the sound minded man is the better subject; that no ill can come from it; that a subject does not lose his individuality; and no advantage can be taken of him. He is the king of laugh makers, giving by far the most humorous exhibition of his kind extant, and is pleased to discuss the subject and give demonstrations to any who are interested enough to call on him.
The prices will be 15, 25, and 35c. Ladies will be admitted free on Monday night if accompanied by an escort holding a paid 35c. ticket.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Eldon, Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act. Howard Gardner.

Senator Hale has been nominated by the Maine republican legislative caucus to succeed himself.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe and its exhausting after-effects. Never fails. Howard Gardner.

A CITY NIGHT.
Come, let us forth and wander the rich, the murmuring night,
The sky blue drain of summer trembles above the street.
On either side uprising glimmer houses pass
But me the turbulent bubble and voice of crowds delight.
For me the wheels make music, the mingled cries are sweet.
Motion and laughter call; we hear, we will not fall.
For see, in secret vista, with soft, retiring stars
With clustered sum, that stare upon the through below.
With pendant dancing moons, that cast a noontide white,
The full streets beckon. Come, for soil has burst his bars,
And idle eyes rejoice, and feet unheating go.
Oh, let us out and wander the gay and golden night.
—Lawrence Binyon in New York Tribune.

THE MYSTERY OF DREAMS.
What Can Fit Through a Man's Brain in One Minute.
It is very certain that the majority of dreams are only of momentary duration, though extended occasionally to the length of a minute.
In proof of this Dr. Sholz tells the following story from his experience:
After excessive bodily fatigue and a day of momentary sleep, I found myself unable to get to bed after I had wound my watch and placed it on the night table. Then I lay down beside a burning lamp. Soon I found myself on the high sea on board a well known ship. I was again young and stood on the lookout. I heard the roar of water and golden clouds floated around me. How long I stood so I did not know, but it seemed a very long time.
"Then the scene changed. I was in the country, and my long lost parents came to greet me. They sent me to church, where the loud organ sounded. I was delighted, but at the same time wondered to see my wife and children there. The priest mounted the pulpit and preached, but I could not understand what he said for the sound of the organ, which continued to play. I took my son by the hand, and with him ascended the church tower, but again the scene changed. Instead of being near my son I stood near an early known but long dead officer. I ought to explain that I was an army surgeon during the maneuvers. I was wondering why the major should look so young, when quite close to my ears a cannon sounded.
"Terrified, I was hurrying off, when I woke up and noticed that the supposed cannon shot had its cause in the opening of the bedroom door, through some one entering. It was as if I had lived through an eternity in my dream, but when I looked at my watch I saw that since I had fallen asleep not more than one minute had elapsed—a much shorter time than it takes to relate the occurrence."—St. Louis Republic.

The Ghost in "Hamlet."
Not many years ago at the Queen's theater, Dublin, during one of the late T. G. King's engagements, "Hamlet" was being played to a densely crowded house. The actor portraying the part of the Ghost solaced himself during his long wait from the first to the third act by perusing the evening paper, using his spectacles in so doing. Being interested in some article (probably the "weights" for an important handicap), he delayed leaving the greenroom until the moment of hearing his cue, when, hastily snatching up his truncheon, he rushed upon the stage without his beard of "sable silvered" or removing his spectacles.
A titter greeted his appearance, but still the solemnity of the darkened stage and the actor acting of King as Hamlet prevented any great outbreak until the Queen, replying to Hamlet's question, "Do you see nothing there?" answered, "Nothing at all. Yet all that I see," when a voice from aloft exclaimed, "The ghost of your father, old boy," followed by another: "Honesty row. Sure he's put them on to see to shave himself."—Cornhill Magazine.

A Lawyer's Retort.
The greater number of cases are tried before judges without juries, and the occupants of the bench are accustomed to resent an eloquent appeal as something in the nature of an insult to their mental powers.
"Do you think to soften my heart," sarcastically asked a well known equity judge when a member of the equity bar, making a rare attempt at rhetoric, drew a pathetic picture of his client's wrongs.
"My lord," replied the counsel, who had at once recognized the failure of his appeal, but was quick to find success in his retort, "I know it is impossible."
—London Globe.

He Wasn't a Gormand.
That wary old fellow, Balie Macduff, was enticed into a friend's house the other night, and his host managed to win 50 shillings from him at "nap." What is more remarkable, when the battle had parted with his last shilling he rose, full of wrath.
"Won't you stay to supper?" pressed his host. "We have a fine bit of ham waiting."
"No, not I. Dae ye think I eat 50 shillings' worth of ham?"—London Answers.

A Trifling Change.
"I guess I'm willing to go," said the farmer, when he told him his hours would be but few. "It is just a change from havin' my nose to the grindstone to havin' it to the tombstone."—Indianapolis Journal.

In ancient Egypt when a cat died in a private house the inmates shaved their eyebrows. The killing of a cat, even accidentally, was considered a capital offense.
The paltry of Spain is supposed to have been introduced into that country by the Moors. It is still in common use among the peasants.
No Cure—No Pay.
That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.
Horrible agony is caused by Piles, Burns and Skin Diseases. These are immediately relieved and quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of worthless imitations. Howard Gardner.

Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company to Move.

The Telegram is gratified to notice the success and wonderful growth of the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company, and is exceedingly glad to learn that the increase in their business has been such that they are compelled to seek more roomy quarters. Mention was made several weeks ago of the purchase by this company of the plant of the Glenn Manufacturing Company. Since taking charge of the business, Mr. Hunter has tripled the output of the factory and the growth is now checked by lack of room. Mr. Hunter has rented the large building formerly occupied by Leak Bros. & Hasten, on Buchanan street, and will move the factory to that place the latter part of this month. Here the company will do a general manufacturing and commission business. May its success be unlimited.

The bride and groom are both from that vicinity, but have been living in Greensboro for sometime. After the marriage the happy couple returned to Greensboro, where they will continue to reside. May happiness and prosperity be theirs.

SMALL WRECK NEAR POMONA.

Five Loose Cars Collided With a Freight Train Yesterday.

A wreck, which came near resulting fatally for four men, occurred just beyond Pomona, on the Southern, late yesterday afternoon. Two freight trains, both northbound, were running several minutes apart. When near Pomona five cars of the first train broke loose and, being on a heavy grade, reversed their course. Both the engineer and the occupants of the caboose were ignorant of the disconnection of the cars, the men in the caboose thinking the train was shifting when the cars started backward, for had they suspected their danger the loose cars could easily have been stopped by applying the brakes. The men in the caboose were Section Master Jones and his men, who were coming from High Point.

When a few hundred yards beyond Pomona the five loose cars met and collided with the second freight. The cars were running at an estimated speed of twenty miles an hour and the caboose, which struck first, was reduced to splinters. None of the men in the caboose were badly injured, though all of them were more or less hurt. Mr. Jones was right badly bruised on the hip. He says that when the collision occurred there was a network of splinters around him and he is thankful that he escaped alive. The fire in the stove set fire to the remains of the caboose and it was allowed to burn near the track. The wreck was cleared away shortly after 10 o'clock, delaying No. 12, the northbound local passenger train, little more than an hour.
